VON PHUL PAINTING
CREOLE SAINT LOUIS

Artist Anna Maria Von Phul

Join curator Hattie Felton for a special event celebrating the life and work of Missouri's earliest known woman artist, Anna Maria Von Phul. Von Phul's sketches, watercolor paintings, and silhouettes are featured in the recent book from the Missouri Historical Society Press entitled More Than Ordinary and the new small gallery exhibition, Painting Creole St. Louis. Felton's lecture walks through von Phul's education and life, revealing the challenges and opportunities she faced as a young artist in the American west and highlights her time spent in Creole-era St. Louis. Vibrant landscapes and expressive portraits provide a one-of-a-kind look at the unique culture, architecture, geography, and people of the growing American town with French roots.
